

the Signpost

September 2012

Editorial

Hi, in response to requests from users we're going to try something a little different over the next few months. In addition to the quarterly editions of Signpost we'll be having have a more regular newsletter that can highlight upcoming events and an up to date calendar. The existing signpost will stay in its current format focusing on articles covering all aspects of cycling. The newsletter will be updated monthly so if there are any upcoming events that need announcing please let me know and I'll get them listed. So if you have anything to contribute to either the newsletter or the magazine then please let me know also any feedback on the new format on the new format will be gratefully recieved.
